Changes in appetite

Eating less can be an early indication of Kidney, Liver or Dental problems, whilst eating more can be a sign of worms, Cushing's disease or Diabetes.

Changes in drinking

An increase in thirst can be one of the very first signs of controllable diseases such as Diabetes, Kidney, Liver or hormonal problems

Mobility issues

Dogs that become less willing to jump onto the sofa or who seem to plod slowly on a walk can be hiding early signs of joint or muscle pain.

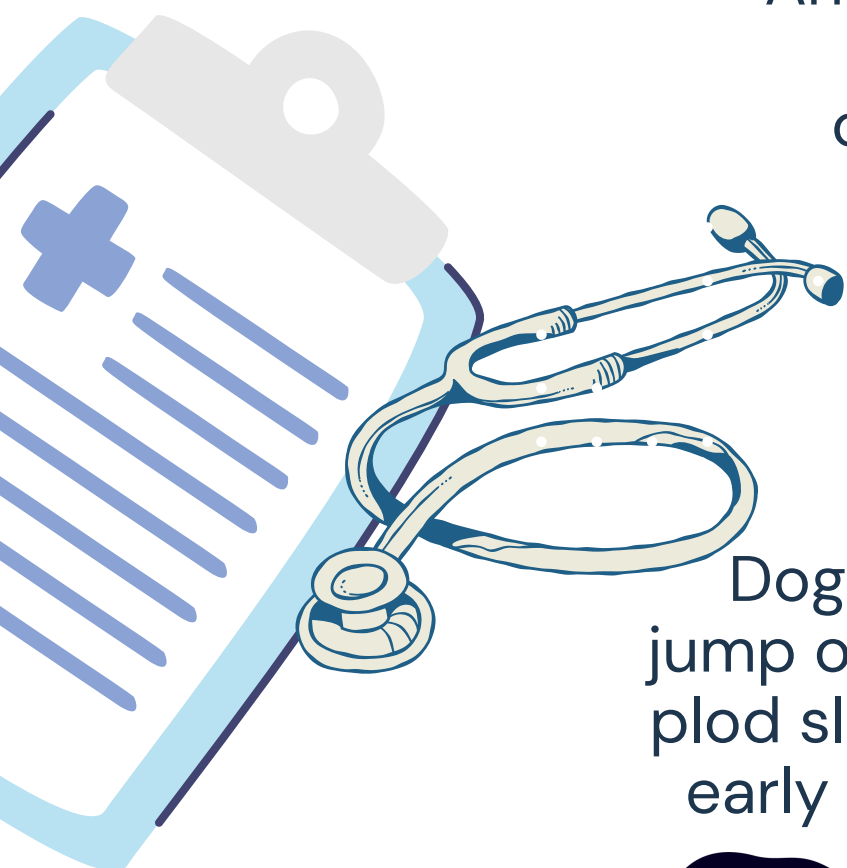

Subtle things

Some dogs show mild changes in their vision or coat condition which are early signs of other problems

Senior Clinics include:
